Waters Farm Days Coming October 6-7

SUTTON - Waters Farm, ancestral home (1757) of Dorothea Waters Moran, was conveyed to the Town of Sutton for stewardship in 1974. The property includes contents of the home, records, and 103 acres of land. Plans are in the works to use the farm as a living history center, teaching young and old how New England contributed to the growth of the nation through the development of people, agriculture, and industry. The Waters Farm Preservation Committee will help to fund this project with its 11th Annual Waters Farm Days. To accommodate the increasing size of the crowds, the festivities have been extended to both Saturday, October 6, and Sunday, October 7, from 10-4. Entry fee is $5.00 per car. The farm is located on Waters Farm Road off Central Turnpike.

Saturday's highlights will include a "Pasture Platters Bingo" at 2:00 p.m. Participants will purchase "deeds" and wait to see if their property is "chosen" by any one of several cows who will be invited to "drop in" or "on" the "property." Players will have a chance to win $500, $300, $150 or $50.

Waters Farm will sell "deeds" for $5 each as well as other charitable organizations who will receive a percentage of the profits. Contact people for these organizations include: Mark DiStefano, Sylvia Stepien, Donna Simkus, Leeni King, Rosemary Cann, and Brenda Jenkins from Kids Country; Greg Davagian and Stewart Anderson, Lions Club; Malcolm Pearson, Historical Society; Jim LeClaire, Fire Association; Paul Maynard, Police Association; Bobby Magner of the Centre Store and Ethel O'Day from the Town Hall will also be selling the deeds. Judges for the event will be: Bill Baker, police chief; John Peterson, fire chief; Malcolm Pearson, Historical Society; and Mike Chizy, Selectman.

Also on Saturday, a pie eating contest will be held for two age groups: 12 and under and 13 and over. The first ten people to register for the contests will be accepted.

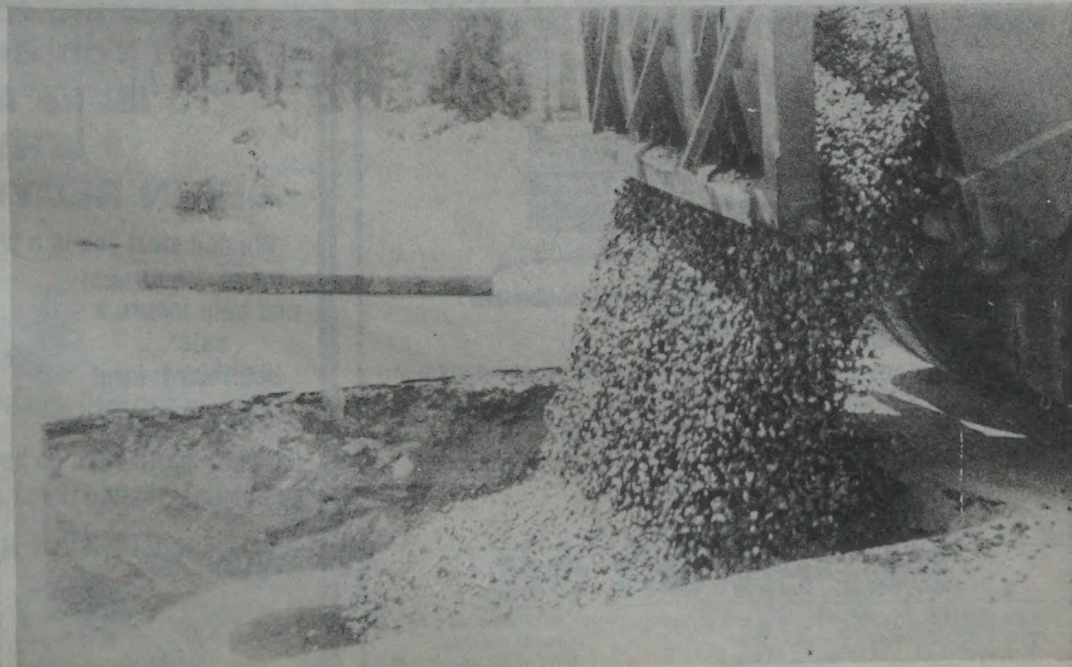

Activities on both days will include the following: free hay wagon and buggy rides, cider making, Waters Farmhouse tours, demonstrations by Early American crafters, workers of early arts and trades, log skidding teamsters demonstration, and plowing, mowing, and harrowing by horses.

Displays will feature antique farm implements, brooms, painting and water colors, beekeeping, coopering, braided rugs, chair caning, herbal vinegars, dried herbs, jellies, blacksmith tools, homemade sweaters, country wooden crafts, gunstock making, hand sewn crafts, dried flower arranging, and equestrian displays.

The historic Darling Barn (circa 1800), now located on Darling Lane, is a gift to the town from David and Yvette Picard of Manchaug. The barn will be dismantled this fall and restored on the Waters Farm property in the Spring. Photo (l-r) David and Yvette Picard; Joy Nydam, member of the Waters Farm Committee; William Baker, Sutton Police Chief, holding Joy Nydam's daughter; Michael Chizy, Selectman; and Malcolm Pearson, representing the Historical Commission.

Lack of Permit Puts Stopper in Drain

MILLBURY - A catch basin on Elm Court is filled in after Highway Department personnel notified police that no permit or dig safe were in place for the work. The contractor, Gioioso Construction of Hyde Park, subcontracted the work to John Elliott of Charlton.

The Voice Heard 'Round the State

Ideally, democracy is a form of government in which the "demos," the populace or common people, govern. All too often, however, we people defer expressing our voice, our concerns to those chosen to govern, namely our elected officials. If everything is going well, which implies that our elected officials are properly discharging their responsibilities, the "demos" are silent; when things are going poorly, which implies that our elected officials are not discharging their responsibilities, the "demos" stir and object in direct proportion to the state of the State. Many politicians, hearing no disapproval or arrogantly ignoring our disapproval, continue exercising the powers on loan to them with a self-serving attitude that more often smacks of condescension than concern.

In the September 18 Primary, the clarion voice of the "demos" was raised, not just locally but statewide. The anthem was so loud that it sent shockwaves through the very foundations of the Statehouse. But what is truly bittersweet in all of this is that some elected officials were surprised and offended by the overwhelming expression of voter disapproval. The politicians' astonishment that the voters will no longer accede to business-as-usual is an insult to the "demos" for it says, in effect, that the people are so unimportant that elected officials need not listen to the legitimate rumblings of disapproval that have been going on for years. This shortsightedness is the single best reason to continue the democratic process of revitalizing government with new ideas and new faces.

Among the lessons to be gathered from this experience are: incumbents returned to office better be more sensitive to the will of their constituents; those newly elected officials better realize that the authority we defer to them is only on loan and subject to recall; and, most important, we, the people, have the power to decide for ourselves and to change individuals or groups who choose to ignore the demos. "DEMOCRACY!" You've got to love it! Don't sit back; take part in it and listen to how loud your voice can be!

We The People...

Explains Support for Tuttle

To the Editor:

Numerous people throughout the Seventh Worcester District have inquired why I am supporting Alan Tuttle of Millbury, the Independent candidate for State Representative.

The fact that I have been a registered Democrat for over fifty years and a member of the Democratic Town Committee for forty of those years, no doubt prompts these inquiries.

The answer is simple, I am a Moderate Democrat.

For sixteen years I represented this District in the Massachusetts House of Representatives. My voting record will indicate the Moderate approach to Policy and fiscal matters. The record will show that during this period, when the Moderate view prevailed, our programs were sound and the budget always balanced. For the past eight years, the ultra-liberal faction of the Party has taken control. The Moderate to Conservative members' warnings of impending financial disaster went unheeded.

The pursuit of an ultra-liberal philosophy, with its inherent lavish spending programs, sponsored and passed by this group, are the root cause of our fiscal crisis. To blame it on a downturn in the State's economy is ludicrous. It was caused by irresponsible overspending for the last three years.

Paul Kollios, the present Representative, has been a leader in this movement for ten years. He has to share the blame and responsibility with every other ultra-liberal member of the House. I think their actions are indefensible and inexcusable.

The only solution is to elect to the House Moderate to Conservative people, in order to return sound Policy and Fiscal accountability. That is why I support Alan Tuttle. I have known Alan for twenty-six years. He has served, with distinction, the Town of Millbury, both as a member of the School Committee and presently as an Assessor. He has the courage and ability to represent what I believe to be the Majority view in the Seventh Worcester District. It is also mine.

To those who ask, "Why are you supporting an Independent," I say I feel very strongly that a change in philosophy is absolutely necessary. This can only be accomplished by electing candidates of moderate or conservative pursuance to the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Richard J. Dwinell
former State Representative
Millbury

Beacon Hill Roll Call

The House and Senate are still in recess and there were no roll calls last week. This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" reports on previously unrecorded roll call votes by Senator John Houston (D-Worcester) on amendments to the original Senate version of the $13 billion plus budget. Also listed are votes by Representative Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) on previously unrecorded roll call votes on amendments to the state budget.

THE SENATE

NEW BUSINESS - Senate 29-8, approved a Rules Committee report implementing several changes in the rules of the Senate during debate on the fiscal 1991 state budget. The changes prevent a variety of motions from being postponed until the next day and require they be considered immediately. Supporters said these changes will allow prompt consideration of the budget in order to solve the state's fiscal crisis. Opponents said these undemocratic changes will result in a marathon session during which an inflated budget will be railroaded through the Senate. Houston voted for the rules changes.

RULING OF CHAIR - Senate 30-7, upheld Senate President Bulger's ruling that the Rules Committee report implementing several rules changes during the budget debate was properly before the Senate for consideration. Supporters of the ruling said many members of the Rules Committee were polled for their opinion on the changes. Opponents argued the committee never had a meeting on the changes and noted not everyone on the committee was asked for their opinion. Houston voted to support Bulger's ruling.

RETIREMENT - Senate 27-11, rejected an amendment transferring $1.7 million in funds from the State Retirement Board and Teachers' Retirement Board to a newly created Commonwealth Retirement Board which would administer the staff and other service needs of the first two boards. Supporters said this is a consolidation amendment to restructure delivery of services to retirees and eliminate duplication among these two agencies which have similar functions. Opponents offered no arguments. Houston voted against the amendment.

NUCLEAR - Senate 29-10, rejected an amendment eliminating the entire $317,000 in funding for the Attorney General's division to pursue matters related to nuclear generating facilities. Amendment supporters said this item is unnecessary and argued it is a waste of taxpayers' money to attempt to block nuclear power plants. Opponents said the Attorney general needs the money to carry out the policies of the state and protect communities from possible disaster. Houston voted against the cut.

SOLDIERS' HOME - Senate 23-12, rejected an amendment allowing the Chelsea Soldiers' home to retain 30% of all revenues it collects in excess of $4.1 million, up to a maximum of $300,000, to use for patient care and services. Amendment supporters said the hospital has already closed some operating rooms and laid off staff. They argued the amendment is necessary to honor a commitment to our veterans. Opponents said the account is sufficiently funded and argued the state does not have money to keep funding amendment increases. Houston voted against the amendment.

CONVENTION CENTER - Senate 30-7, rejected an amendment giving the Secretary of Administration and Finance control of the Hynes Auditorium and privatizing management of the Hynes. Amendment supporters said this would eliminate the Massachusetts Convention Center Authority and its arrogance, wasteful spending and empire building. Opponents said the Authority has done a good job and has generated million of dollars for the economy and the business community. Houston voted against the amendment.

LOCAL AID - Senate 20-18, defeated an amendment changing the local aid distribution for fiscal 1991. The fiscal 1991 total is $210 million less than fiscal 1990 and the amendment proposes a different distribution of dollars than the one proposed by Senate Ways and Means. Amendment supporters said the amendment would subtract the $210 million on a "pro-rata" basis which is fairer than the Ways and Means "per capita" method which benefits a handful of larger cities at the expense of over 300 other communities. Opponents said the amendment would create havoc and hurt many older communities while benefitting wealthy suburban ones. Houston voted against the amendment.

THE HOUSE

DISTRICT COURTS - House 120-27, rejected an amendment increasing from $1.7 million to $2.8 million funding for a reserve to meet the costs of the district courts and earmarking $1 million for a reserve to meet the costs of the five most overburdened courts. The amendment also increases funding by some $4.5 million for various items including district attorneys' offices, correctional programs, programs to prevent prison overcrowding and drug and alcohol programs. Amendment supporters said this will help the criminal justice system and help attack the drug, crime and prison problems. Opponents said the state cannot afford the increases and noted the budget allows courts to retain some revenues to help provide additional funding for these programs. Moore and Kollios voted against the increases.

... by Joe Morin

HI NEIGHBOR! How you'all is? Hope things are fine at your end, nothing to complain about here...Hellz-a-poppin in the Middle East, isn't it?

We've got another name to add to the Esso Bee List! Yup! We had Attila the Hun Hitler, Stalin, and now we have that Bozo from Iraq, Saddam Hussein....Greed, power, oil, that's a greedy person, he's going to cause a lot of hoopla around the world...so kids, button up your overcoats, put on your long johns, it's going to be a long winter, a cold one....Don't forget we're going to have to put up with the high cost of oil, don't think the oil barons are going to lower the costs....Greed! Greed! Power! Profits!

Oh! We forgot to add Arafat and Khadafy to the Esso Bee List! The three stooges of the Middle East. But they're cunning; they're mean bozos!

OUR PRAYERS and a great salute to those guys and gals over there in the desert, sweating and putting up with the boredom....We complained in our last column of the heat we've been having, but those guys and gals are experiencing heat daily; the desert heat, loneliness. Folks, do a small thing for them, let's at least fly our flags for them. I intend to fly the flag daily until they're all home. C'mon now, it's the least we can do besides offering a prayer that they will all be home soon, safe and sound!

The politicians have arrived on the scene, nosing around in Saudi Arabia, in the way. Imagine the security that has to be provided for those ding-a-lings! Why in the hell don't they stay home and let those in command do their thing. Fact finding? Bull! It's a free vacation for 'em, first class, all the comforts of home. Politicians make it so easy for us to sock it to 'em.

A DIFFERENT LAND, a totally different culture the guys have to put up with. No alcohol allowed in the area, GI gals have to keep covered up, more or less, no hanky panky with the local Arabians, at all. It must surprise some GI's to notice the Egyptians, et al, kneel in prayer three times a day, facing Mecca, and offer prayers to Allah! Maybe we should all offer a prayer to God, Allah, for a peaceful solution to this mess.

THE DUKE can't leave 'cause he thinks Evelyn M. will screw up the state while he's gone abroad. Mr Governor, how much more damage can Ms. Murphy do? Just goes to show, even the Dems can't trust their own...sad State of affairs, believe you me. Fun and games, for them, not for us, the taxpayers who have to put up with all this baloney and sauerkraut! We're the laughing stock of the nation....

SIGN OF THE TIMES...bulletproof back-to-school clothes are the latest thing for New York City kids...school blazers and jackets fitted with bulletproof Kevlar 129 pads are providing a feeling of security to parents undaunted by price tags ranging from $250-$600. It's open season in New York, 1,905 homicides last year. God Bless America! We need it.

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE...Josephine N. of Sutton

loves fishing, but can't seem to catch one! The only way to catch a blue, says I, is to attach a piece of kielbasa to the hook. Josephine, it really works, but watch out for the sharks, they love kielbasa too! And please, make sure your reel is secure to the pole. Good grief! Pete G. is doing great after his recent knee operation. He says it feels so darn good that he might try the other knee....Hang in there, Pete. Late congrats to Claude G. from Millbury who just celebrated his 50th birthday. Gee, he looks good for his age, and still going strong. I wish I look that good when I reach 50! THEY say it's possible to swim in Dorothy Pond! Possible, yes! Probable, no way, Jose! Too many sharks. DID YOU know that an anti-tank missile costs over $40,000. You just don't pop them every other second....Also, it's costing us a billion a month in supplies, etc., to keep peace over there. PRESIDENT BUSH has frozen Iraq's assets and he's seeking the proper economic sanctions to punish them. How about putting all their assets in the S&L's, then they'll really be sorry. Notice there hasn't been any major oil spills lately. How come? PAT W. of Millbury sure can swing a mean broom when it comes to chasing ducks, mallards, geese from her backyard. Pat, they're only fertilizing the lawn...give 'em a break!

HEY, HOW ABOUT this humongous waste of taxpayers' money: the Department of Veterans Affairs has paid benefits to more than 1,200 DECEASED veterans, including about 100 who died a decade or more ago. The agency pegs the potential annual loss from the erroneous payments at $5.7 million...and you wonder why the country is going to hell.

EVER WONDER how many workers there are on the Lottery payroll? There must be zillions! The say it's quite a family affair....

HE WON'T do that again. A guy stole a package out of a car, didn't realize it was dog poop that was on its way to the dump. Hey, that's a good way to get rid of your garbage. Wrap it up nicely with a ribbon, leave it in the car, some dodo will come by and take it off your hands!

WANNA bet the price of wood stoves will rise? A cord of wood will be costing you an arm and a bundle. What's a Union suit? Do they still make them with the flap? LOTS OF TRAFFIC around here and Wooster way, especially around 2:30 to 3:00 p.m. Reason for the huge backup, school buses are on the road. MILLIONAIRE Al Spiegel of Hollywood went to court after breaking up with his girl friend of four years. The judge awarded her $600,000 a year until she remarries, his Malibu home, $50,000 a year for clothes, two cars and, get this, $20,000 a year for psychiatric counseling to help her cope with the anguish of their separation. Ha-ha-ha! And she was only his girlfriend, imagine if she was the wife?

WHY IS IT always the ladies that have to pay their bills at the checkout counter with coins. They all dig into that suitcase they call a pocketbook and count the pennies and nickels. ST. MARK'S in Sutton had about 750 people when the church was first established in the middle 60's; today there are over 700 families. You know what that means? Expansion is in the works....more pews, classrooms to be added. Sutton is still growing and growing.

OK, CHILDREN, some more warnings from your Nannies in Congress. We have warned you about the evils of smoking, now we want to have industry carry some more warnings, this time on liquor, wine and beer bottles and advertisements. WE worry about all our little ones out there children, we want to be absolutely certain that you know what you're getting into....we want you all to be like us....healthy-robust!!!

AGRICULTURAL - House 122-25, approved an amendment providing $1.7 million for emergency funding of several county cooperative extension programs. Amendment supporters said this will fund agricultural schools and programs and will encourage young people to get into farming and preserve open space in Massachusetts. Opponents offered no arguments. Moore voted for the $1.7 million. Kollios voted against it.

EARMARK - On these two votes, the House refused to reconsider earlier approval of two amendments earmarking a portion of a program's funding for a specific city. The House 94-54 refused to reconsider approval of an amendment earmarking for New Bedford $88,000 out of $200,000 for housing services and assistance to low income tenants and to landlords to maintain secure and affordable shelter within the private housing stock. The House 105-50 refused to reconsider earlier approval of an amendment earmarking for Fall River $94,000 out of $1.2 million for teenage pregnancy prevention programs. Reconsideration supporters said it is unfair to earmark money for specific cities at the expense of all the other cities and towns. Reconsideration opponents said New Bedford has major housing and tenant and landlord problems and argued Fall River has the highest teen pregnancy rate in the state. Moore voted to reconsider earmarking the money. Kollios voted to earmark the money for New Bedford and Fall River.

EMPLOYEE TERMINATION - House 101-46, approved an amendment providing that state employees transferred from one agency to another or to an authority or placed on an 03 account since July 1989 be terminated unless the transfer is approved by the House and Senate Ways and Means Committees by September. Amendment supporters, noting the transfer of many employees to the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, argued the amendment would give the legislature some oversight. Opponents said the amendment would unfairly treat thousands of police officers and others who were transferred when agencies were consolidated to save money. Moore and Kollios voted for the amendment.

MORIN from Pag4

GOTTA TELL YOU this one: a new couple moved into the neighborhood awhile back. I heard a lot of whistling, talking, chatter. I was curious about all this and approached the kids and introduced myself. They in turn introduced me to "Joey!" Joe, meet Joey! He had just finished a meal of spaghetti and pizza and was prepping himself, you know, getting himself cleaned up. I said, "Hi, Joey! Glad to meet ya!" He said, "Hi Joe!" Then he called me a four letter word, ya know what I mean? I said, "Mon Dieu." A little embarrassed, to say the least. I assumed he learned that nasty talk from the late TV shows or else x-rated tapes. If I were the parents I would clip his wings for sure. Oh! Forgo to tell ya! Joey is an Amazonian parrot, and his wings are clipped. The dirty bird! No Class!

WHEN THE SERVICE in a restaurant is lousy, what is the rule of thumb for tipping? Answer: put the tip of your thumb on your nose and wiggle your fingers. (Now that is not a class act!)

THE DUKE is my shepherd, I shall not want, he maketh me lie down in the street; he leadeth me beside the still industries; he guideth me to the path of unemployment; he restoreth my doubt in the "Massachusetts Miracle"; he annointeth my wages with taxes, so that my expenses runneth over my income; surely poverty and servitude shall follow this administration, and I shall live in the House of Bankruptcy forever and ever...amen!

WUNDERBAR! Pumpnickel was coined by Napoleon's troops during the Wars. His men complained that although they were often poorly fed, there was always bread for Naps favorite horse, Nicol! Thus the word "pumpnickel" was coined - pain (bread) pour (for) Nicol! Say it fast! How about that? Ya wanna try "fluffernutter?"

$500 BUCKS for an overdue library book kept over 30 days? Yup! They say that's the law now. Turn em in kids, it's going to cost ya. Mom, search the cabinets, the bookshelves, the cellar to be on the safe side. You wouldn't want an officer from the KOB (Keeper of the Books) department knocking at your doors would ya? Lawdy, lawdy, what are they going to think up next?

THE GROOM BACKED OUT at the last minute, so Kathleen Gooley decided to give her reception party to the homeless. She reorganized the reception and invited over 150 homeless of Norwalk and gave them one hell of a party. They ate, danced, and partied. They came clad in jeans, t-shirts, some ties and dresses. That's what I would call a gal with a lot of class.

WHY ARE WE IN THE GULF? Why are our young men being asked to fight in a war for something only a handful of politicians and businessmen understand? Why are our senators and congressmen taking paid-by-the-taxpayer junkets to the Mideast? For what reason, to report? TV commentators are doing this. Why don't they have problems getting transportation and communication equipment that will transmit worldwide while our troops can't even get short wave radios to work? Why is it possible for the debt ridden US government to blow off a $7.1 billion debt of a foreign government, but demand (with interest and fines) from the average working American? Why aren't we using less oil, driving fewer miles, building public transportation and energy efficient buildings, inventing alternative forms of energy, tapping into our own natural resources, in lieu of sending our boys off to die? Why, even in the midst of a crisis, have we not altered our extravagantly wasteful living habits? Why are our priorities so messed up? Why do people respond so much more passionately when a newspaper reports on animal abuse than on child abuse? Why do human beings hate entire groups of other human beings, people they don't know, people they've never ever seen? Why do people hate at all? Why are children encouraged to say "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance at the beginning of each school day but are not allowed to mention God any other time during school? Why is God such a controversial word? Why aren't any other words so suspect? Why do entertainers use their influence in negative ways? Why do politicians make promises they know they'll never keep? Why do people never learn from the past?

Why do we continue to make the same mistakes again and again? (B. Beckham column excerpts)

SURE WOULDN'T WANT the President's jet fuel bill and telephone bill right now...come to think of it, we do get it! We do! Doo-doo! Good Grief! What a bill.

C'mon now, give us a break. A NEW study out by the Economic Policy Institute says: "During the past decade, the rich got richer and paid fewer taxes. On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltons

The Millbury Public Library had another successful summer in the Children's Room. The library offered 40 children's programs during the 10 weeks of summer. Attendance at these totalled 878. Over 6,667 items from the children's collection were checked out. Our museum passes to the New England Science Center, funded by the Millbury Woman's Club, circulated 42 times.

Each year children's librarians from all over Central Massachusetts develop a regional story hour programming theme and materials. Last year it was "travel" and the year before, "mysteries." This year's theme was by far one of our favorites, "food." The possibilities for enticing children to participate in summer library programs and to read books proved unlimited when one thought with the stomach as well as the brain! Millbury embraced this theme with gusto to produce 10 weeks of tasty and exciting programs.

In keeping with this theme, kids took a memorable visit to a local pizza house. With the help of Joanne Dunn and Company, youngsters learned how to make a BBQ apron for moms and dads. For eight weeks, preschoolers snacked on nutritious goodies and were read everything short of their favorite peanut butter recipes during story hour.

Not to be outdone, our Read-To-Me and Reading Club members satisfied their sweet tooth with old fashion confectioneries and surprises. To absorb all from eating too many sweets, participants created and indulged in a good-for-you "mystery meal" of gorb. They also went to an "eggventure" and made devilish deviled eggs to go with it.

Our most popular summer program was our Brown Bag Film Series that featured many Disney favorites, including newly released "Otis and Milo." Our first showing of Otis and Milo was a sellout. We had a repeat presentation that played to another full house. Total attendance to the five movies in this series was a whopping 280. You might have guessed it already, the popcorn went fast and furious at each film.

Thanks to our generous filmgoers who were asked to donate nonperishable foodstuffs before attending each film, several cartons of food were donated to local charities.

We ended our 1990 season feast of children's programs with an old fashion ice cream social. Ice cream was served, and prizes, donated by local businesses, were handed out. We also announced the winners of our challenging and none-too-easy literary scavenger hunt. We were pleased to award both Erin Dromgoole and Audra Kenary with $25 gift certificates. Many organizations and businesses in the community helped to make this summer a successful one in the children's room.

Now that summer is over, we move on to Fall. Watch the papers for our upcoming fall programs which include Stephen Nathan's workshop on amateur astronomy offered in October; preschool story hour; and Trimming and Trapping, a presentation and display of Colonial Period clothing and accessories.

For more information on upcoming library programs, call 865-1181.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

The other day I heard noises coming from the ball field, so I went down to see what was happening. Before, I found softball leagues playing and they were pretty good. This time, however, it was boys from our Millbury High Soccer Team practicing.

They looked very good and their drills were performed with a great deal of perfection and enthusiasm. It has been thrilling to see soccer taking its place in our country. This is a game that can be played with a minimum of equipment, skill, and injury, but does require a good deal of fortitude and perseverance and a great deal of team cooperation.

While I was standing there on the other side of the fence, every once in a while a ball would go over the fence and I would retrieve it. Upon passing the ball to one of the boys they would answer most politely, "Thank you, sir." That really has left a fine impression on me. Say, with young people like this, maybe there is hope for the future.

One of the thrills of gospel ministry is relationships with people, but especially with young people. I am at the stage of life right now where I can look back on former young people with whom we have had a ministry. Youth ministry is a very difficult and demanding ministry, but the rewards are tremendous.

At one time I was very active in "Christian Service Brigade," which is a Christ-centered, church-related boy's group. One of my "boys" is coming to be with me and he is now working for the "American Mission for Opening Closed Churches." It is always great to see the fruits of your labor. "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth."

Amen.

Another Point of View

A RICHES TO RAGS STORY

By Lawrence Moore

In a few short years, Massachusetts, once the envy of almost every other state in the Union, has now become a symbol of failure. We've faulted State Government, but banks, computer companies, builders and entrepreneurs in general have been victims of self-destruction based on inept forecasting and bad decisions. Only the extreme conservatives still have their heads above water. Who knows if a different Governor or a different Legislature might have done otherwise. Certainly, some businesses and some States are better off than others, even in the Northeast.

A recent AP poll found that an incredible 47% of our people would consider leaving Massachusetts if things continue to get worse. One third of those say they are cutting back on groceries. Also significant is the projected Congressional decrease in the House of Representatives. Even though Massachusetts has gained 4% in population, we are losing one Representative, bringing our delegation down to 10. For comparison, Georgia will have 11 Representatives, North Carolina 12 and Virginia 11. The growth of population in Massachusetts is due to an influx of immigrants, whose contribution to tax revenue is probably not up to average as yet.

Unemployment in Massachusetts at 6.7% is now the highest since October 1983. Nationally, the unemployment rate is 5.6%.

William Dunkelberg, Dean of Temple University School of Business and Management, quoted in the Wall Street Journal, says "entrepreneurs in New England infected with the exuberance of economic expansion, created a glut of businesses that can't be sustained in hard times. Thus shake out is inevitable." For example, a small business started three years ago reached $1.3 million in sales by its second year. Its costs were growing even faster. Instead of concentrating on controlling costs, the owners tried to raise money to grow faster. They are in Chapter 11.

The parallel in our State's operations is obvious.

Instead of concentrating on controlling costs, we are trying to raise money (taxes) to sustain a costly administration we can no longer afford.

Murphy's proposal, prior to her withdrawal, indicates that something can be done without relying entirely on cutting services to the elderly, education, public safety, the infrastructure, and other essentials of daily life.

At this point, it is difficult to know who is to be our next Governor. Whoever it is, our Government business must be reorganized. Regardless of who is elected Governor, and regardless of the composition of the Legislature, drastic measures must be taken.

The CLT initiative could be the crutch that would enable the new Governor and the new Legislature to hold themselves harmless for what they will have to do to reduce the cost of managing the State. Without rehearsal, the Governor and the Legislature could join in singing "Don't Blame Me", and rescue the State from the brink of disaster.

Then, one day, our rags will once again be riches.

Moore Called 'Rising Democratic Star'

UXBRIDGE - Representative Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge) is featured in the September issue of "The Mainstream Democrat" magazine as a "rising Democratic star." He is profiled as leader of the Massachusetts Chapter of the Democratic Leadership Council (DLC). The magazine is the official publication of the national DLC organization.

Moore is cited for his battle against excessive state spending and for his efforts to make government as lean and efficient as possible. The article also lauds Moore's efforts to oppose new taxes while supporting programs to help people.

"I was brought up with the idea of trying to help people," Moore says in the article. "But the government has to have credibility with people in order to help people. I believe in expanding opportunity, not government," he said.

Clapprood and Keverian Coming to Millbury

MILLBURY - Marjorie Clapprood, Democratic nominee for Lt. Governor, will present Representative Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) with the Millbury Democrat of the Year Award at the Second Annual Leo P. Bachant Democrat of the Year Award Dinner.

Other speakers will include: George Keverian, speaker of the house; state senators John Houston and Louis Bertonazzi, and Jude Cristo, chairman of the Millbury Board of Selectmen.

The dinner will be held on October 7 at 6:00 at the VFW Charles F. Minney Post. Tickets may be obtained until September 30 by contacting Mary Ann Dube at 865-9333 or Terry Hamilton at 865-4723. Tickets are $12.50.

Talk Show Host Draws Capacity Crowd

AUBURN - Gene Burns, the popular talk show host of Boston Radio Station WRKO, spoke to a capacity crowd gathered at the Auburn Elks Club on September 17. Burns appeared on behalf of Alan Tuttle, a candidate for the Seat of State Representative from the Seventh Worcester District, which includes the towns of Millbury, Auburn, and Oxford. The theme of Burns' presentation was, "The Nature and Role of Government in a Free Society."

Millbury-Sutton Youth Football

The Millbury-Sutton Raiders opened their season officially last week with a 30-8 loss to Wachusett. The score was by no means an indication of how close this game really was. A delay call late in the first half stopped what at the time could have been the tying score. In the third quarter, on a second and goal from the one foot line, the Raiders fumbled the ball into the end zone, effectively taking them out of the game. Two, late in the fourth quarter touchdowns made the final score misleading.

The newest M.Y.F.A. team in Massachusetts fell victim time and again to their inexperience, acquiring penalties for too many men on the field and other first year mistakes. Overall, however, the team played extremely well and showed major improvements over their efforts in the Jamboree a week earlier. The defensive line up the middle was exceptionally strong. On offense, Kevin Shaw, with some great blocks from his teammates, electrified the crowd by swinging around the left end and running the ball in for a 60 yard touchdown. The next game is against Concord, in Concord.
